Manly Arts Festival

Celebrating creativity on Sydney’s Northern Beaches

7 - 23 September 2018
Welcome

Welcome to the 2018 Manly Arts Festival. This year we’re coming together to celebrate 25 years of this amazing Festival and the magic of creativity on the Northern Beaches. Once again, our region will be ignited with an eclectic mix of exciting events featuring prominent musicians and visual artists, hosted in a number of venues including artist studios, Manly Art Gallery & Museum, the Creative Space and Glen Street Theatre.

Since 1994, this community-based arts festival celebrates the achievements, dedication and innovation of the Northern Beaches creative community in the fields of visual, musical, film, literary and the performing arts.

Each year, Council joins forces with artists and cultural organisations with the support of local businesses, to develop a creative and entertaining arts program for our residents and visitors. This year you’ll find lots to see, hear and participate in, with a range of creative learning opportunities to explore and enjoy.

Northern Beaches Council is committed to supporting cultural initiatives in our area and genuine opportunities for participation in the creative arts. We are currently developing an Arts & Creativity Strategy and look forward to working with our community on this and providing continuing opportunities in this area.

Congratulations to everyone involved in helping make the 2018 Manly Arts Festival a truly marvelous event. Immerse yourself in the Manly Arts Festival and, as always, be inspired by the creativity around us.

Michael Regan, Mayor of Northern Beaches Council

Our Stories: Yesterday | Today | Tomorrow

Do you remember visiting Manly Fun Pier or diving into Manly Harbour Pool? ‘Our Stories’ offers a creative perspective on our local heritage, encouraging visitors to take a fresh look at our area’s living history and the social, cultural, political and environmental narratives that connect and influence our own stories of belonging and inclusion. This event features an installation by Sydney-based artist Francesca Mataraga, as well as an interactive StoryPod storytelling booth where you can record your own stories, memories and ideas about the past, present and future of Manly Cove. This project has been partially funded by NSW Office of Environment & Heritage through Heritage Near Me, providing financial assistance for community based projects that seek collaborative solutions to address local heritage concerns.

Sydney Chamber Music Festival 2018: Figuratively Speaking
This series of concerts brings together music inspired by the fascinating artworks of Australian painter Robert Dickerson AO (1924 – 2015). Dickerson’s works depict people and scenes and are often described as melancholic with menacing dark streetscapes and isolated figures with anguished facial expressions. This opens up a huge realm of music which SCMF Artistic Director, Bridget Bolliger is delighted to curate alongside a line-up of outstanding artists. This year, the SCMF has received recognition and support from the Australian Elizabethan Theatre Trust and will be offering 5 outstanding concert programs accessible to all ages.
When: Fri 26 – Sun 28 Oct
Where: Manly Art Gallery & Museum, West Esplanade, Manly

Concert 1: In a Sentimental Mood
Having captivated audiences all over the world, acclaimed jazz vocalist Gregg Arthur with the Peter Locke Quartet opens the SCMF with songs from The Great American Songbook for a charmingly relaxed and intimate program. Please join us after the performance for complimentary welcome drinks, proudly brought to you by the sponsor Penna Lane Wines, Clare Valley, South Australia.
When: Fri 26 Oct, 7pm
Concert 2: Nella and the Paradise of Birds
A 40 minute family concert featuring the Sydney Puppet Theatre, Bridget Bolliger on flute and Andrew West on piano in this truly original artistic program. Sydney-based composer Jim Coyle’s stunning set of 12 miniatures for flute and piano, composed and recorded in 2017, is beautifully brought to life as little Nella dreams and imagines a paradise of birds in her puppetry realm. This is a theatrical performance that will educate, excite the senses and inspire the minds of all ages.
When: Sat 27 Oct, 11am

Concert 3: Timeless
Arguably Australia’s finest cellist, the New York born and Perth based musician Michael Goldschlager joins flautist Bridget Bolliger with the internationally acclaimed British pianist Andrew West in a remarkable program of chamber music throughout the ages, performing works by J.S.Bach, Haydn, Debussy and Martinu. Dedicated in part to the 100th anniversary of the passing of the great Claude Debussy, ‘Timeless’ will also feature the Australian premiere of the adaptation of J.S.Bach’s famous ‘G Major Trio for Flute, Cello and Piano’.
When: Sun 28 Oct, 12noon

Concert 4: Up Close and Personal
Conductor, pianist, broadcaster and SCMF patron Guy Noble, will host an insightful 75 minute program that takes the audience ‘up close and personal’ on a journey into the mind and workings of a successful professional musician. Guy will be joined by one of Australia’s finest international artists, the great Mezzo-Soprano Deborah Humble, along with pianist Andrew West and Amanda Cole PhD, founder of ‘Performance Brilliance,’ to give their unique views and expertise on musical life and how to master both body and mind to reach potential and to enhance performance. Following their talk, Andrew will perform ‘1st Sonata for Piano’ by Alban Berg and then Deborah will join him in a special performance of Wagner’s ‘Wesendonck Lieder’.
When: Sun 28 Oct, 7pm

Concert 5: Piers Lane
One of Australia’s ‘favourite sons’, the acclaimed pianist Piers Lane, will be giving his only public recital in Australia in 2018 at the SCMF, performing a diverse and stunning program featuring works by J.S.Bach, Chopin, Tchaikovsky and Stravinsky. A pianist who stands out as an engaging and highly versatile performer, Piers’ concerto repertoire alone exceeds ninety-five works, he has performed five times at the BBC Proms and has a discography of over 50 CD’s spanning Bach to Williamson.

#1 Burst Your Bubble
Students will have the chance to blow a big glass bubble until it bursts! (10-15 minutes). No previous experience necessary.
When: Sat 15 & Sun 16 Sept, 10am - 4pm
Cost: $10

#2 Come Blow Your Form
This is a simple vase blowing lesson. Students are supported to create a drop vase by arranging colours on the marver. The teacher then assists the student to pick those colours up by rolling hot glass over them and then covering with clear glass from the furnace. The teacher will then assist to blow the bubble out, hang and put into kiln to cool slowly (30 – 45 minutes). Students return to collect the vase once it is cooled. No previous experience necessary.
When: Sat 15 & Sun 16 Sept, 10am - 4pm
Cost: $75

#3 Two Day Glass Blowing Intensive
This beginner’s workshop is the perfect way to discover the excitement of working with hot glass and join in the fascinating foray into the mysteries of the age-old art form of glass blowing. The workshop explores the basics of glassblowing and is aimed at beginners wishing to learn glassblowing at the furnace. No experience is required. Students will learn how to gather and marver, shape and blow glass and how to use the appropriate tools through basic exercises and practice. Use of colour will also be explored. Students usually end up with 2-4 pieces: a paperweight, tumbler, small vase or bowl.
When: Mon 17 & Tues 18 Sept, 10am - 4pm and Sat 22 & Sun 23 Sept, 10am - 4pm
Cost: $580

#4 Two Day Weekend Glass Casting Intensive
This is a unique opportunity to study with the artist, Sallie Portnoy in her studio by the sea and to take home a wealth of knowledge and several new cast sculptures. Have an inspiring weekend getting the creative juices flowing. This two day workshop will take students on an intensive journey into the creative possibilities of kiln cast glass. The instructor will demystify the casting process by teaching how to model and form positives in clay to make simple open moulds. The use of Gel-Flex rubber will also be demonstrated. This course will cater to all levels of ability.
When: Sat 22 & Sun 23 Sept, 10am - 4pm
Cost: $460
